Are you deciding which study programme is right for you and where you would like to head professionally after graduation? Career counselling supported by professional assessment tools can help you better understand your strengths, talents, personality traits and potential, and connect them with specific study opportunities and career options for your future professional role.

I do not simply interpret the test results. During an individual consultation, we will connect them with your experience, interests, values, studies, career goals, as well as current requirements and real opportunities in the labour market.

The test results are only a starting point. Together, we will turn them into practical insights that can help you with your studies, career and future professional role.

A test can tell you what — a career counsellor can help you understand what it means for you and what steps to take next.

You can choose from four different assessment tools depending on what you are currently looking for. If you are not sure which service is right for you, feel free to contact me and we can choose the most suitable assessment option for you together.

CliftonStrengths® TOP 5 and Individual Career CounsellingKey talents

The CliftonStrengths® TOP 5 assessment by Gallup identifies your five most prominent natural “super strengths” and provides basic insight into how you can develop and apply these strengths in your further studies. You will also receive practical recommendations from a career counsellor on how to make the most of your strengths when choosing your future profession and planning your career.
